SAMPLE TOPICS INCLUDED IN YOUR EVENT

Keynote Seminars & Workshops

1. THE SEVEN STEPS TO OVERCOMING ANY OBSTACLE, SOLVING ANY PROBLEM & ACHIEVING ANY GOAL.

Did you know that every successful person in the history of humanity has applied the same 7-step formula when successfully overcoming challenges? President's, CEO's, military leaders, teachers, parents, students and people in every field of endeavor universally apply this formula for success, even if they don't know they are using it? Once you become aware of these seven critical steps and learn how to apply them consistently and automatically in your workplace, you will literally become unstoppable.

2. THE FIVE KEYS TO BUILDING POWERFUL RAPPORT, STRONGER CONNECTION & HIGHLY EFFECTIVE COMMUNICATION.

Across every culture, race, creed, color, and religion throughout the world and among people of every physical, mental and emotional description, there are 5 keys to building connection, establishing rapport, and producing effective communication that apply universally. Master these 5 keys and eliminate up to 92% of miscommunication. Master these 5 keys and have the ability to effectively communicate with anyone, anywhere, any time and under any circumstances.

3. THE THREE UNIVERSAL DRIVERS OF ALL THOUGHT, ACTION & ACHIEVEMENT.

Throughout history we have sought to understand "What makes people tick?" Entire fields of study have been created to examine this including Psychology, Sociology, Philosophy, Social Psychology, Theology, Biology and, most recently, Cognitive Neuro-Science. When examining the findings in all of these fields, three universal drivers emerge as the core determinants of everything we do. The most successful leaders actively manage these three drivers in themselves and the people they lead.

4. THE TWO KEY DRIVERS THAT PRODUCE EMPOWERING & PRODUCTIVE EMOTIONS IN THE WORKPLACE.

More than any other factor, people and the emotions we bring to the table are the primary determinant of a company's success. Knowing what to do or how to do it is not enough. Emotions either empower & connect us, leading to productivity and success, or they distract & divide us leading to inefficiency and competitive disadvantage. What are emotions and how do they work? Can we learn to recognize and even manage them in the workplace? Can we activate a culture of empowering and productive emotions? Yes we can, when we understand the 2 key drivers of all emotions.

5. THE ONE FACTOR THAT DETERMINES EVERYTHING.

Believe it or not, there is one factor that determines how much money we will make, how hard we will work, how we will feel about our job, and in the end, whether we succeed or fail, individually and as an organization. It is a factor that most people are completely unaware of, operating automatically day after day and silently determining every thought, feeling and action we experience. Yet it is a factor that any of us can choose to take command of at any time. The world's best leaders actively and meticulously manage this factor producing powerful and dramatic results. Once you learn their secrets, so can you.

TEAMBUILDING

The goal in team building and developing a team is to galvanize your group into extraordinary performance. A successful teambuilding event is a carefully designed, sequenced, and coordinated series of individual and group experiences that lead a team to a place where their creativity, communication and productivity expand dramatically.

Extraordinarily high performing teams usually share the following characteristics which we will help you develop.

All members:

- * face a compelling goal
- * are committed to achieving that goal
- * respect, trust, care about and are loyal to each other
- * are each willing to take risks and make difficult decisions
- * creatively collaborate
- * advise each other & listen to each other
- * expect, work through & value the outcome from occasional conflict or disagreement.
- * take for granted they are personally accountable for the result
- * enjoy going to work & working together

This list, while not exhaustive, represents the core characteristics that correlate with exceptionally high performing teams.

Are some of these characteristics disturbingly missing from your team? We will help you develop these keys to success within your organization.

Can your team benefit from:

- * learning to be collectively creative to produce breakthrough ideas and solutions
- * improving the ability to invite and listen constructively to criticism
- * developing a skill set to resolve long-standing, current, and future conflict
- * increasing the ability to share crucial information openly and productively
- * learning to take wise and calculated risks
- * becoming capable of operating effectively when the team leader is absent

Seldom does a highly effective team come together on its own. They must be created.

There are a variety of proven methods and techniques that produce results time and time again. The following five things are always present.

1. Create an environment of trust and security in which members can push their limits - this is where lessons are learned, creativity flourishes and bonds are forged. By removing barriers and defensive patterns that operate in day-to-day situations members become capable of gaining insights unattainable under ordinary circumstances
2. Strengthen members sense of inter-connection by teaching them to know themselves and others - what makes people tick, what do they really want, what they really need, how do they meet those wants & needs, what is their communication style, what is involved in effective communication, what are their strengths & weaknesses, how do they respond to pressure, what do they really fear, how can they use their fear productively.
3. Instill a sense of confidence, importance or even greatness through personal and team achievements and successes.
4. Provide opportunities that require and produce growth - mental, physical and emotional challenges.
5. Inculcate and reward loyalty, interdependence and contribution to the team and the goal or outcome and celebrate success together.

We have numerous ways of implementing these steps involving a variety of activities, initiatives and challenges. Removing your team from your "comfort zone" opens new channels of trust, communication and loyalty. You tend to remember those lessons learned when you think your life is in peril--our control measures will assure that it is not. Unbreakable bonds are often forged under immense pressure and under challenging circumstances. The most monumental human achievements occur when ordinary people communicate exceptionally and take action in the face of great pressure. A group of people connected and working in unity towards a shared vision often achieve more than even they thought possible.

LEADERSHIP

When you think of great leaders, who comes to mind?

Business leaders:

Bill Gates, Oprah Winfrey, J.P Morgan, Sam Walton, Walt Disney, Mary Kay Ash, Ray Kroc, J.D. Rockefeller, Lee Iacocca, Jack Welch, and many others

Political Leaders:

George Washington, Queen Elizabeth I, Abraham Lincoln, Thomas Jefferson, Susan B. Anthony, Martin Luther King, Jr., Eleanor Roosevelt, Winston Churchill, Catherine the Great, Mohandas "Mahatma" Gandhi, Nelson Mandela, John F. Kennedy and many others.

Religious leaders: Abraham, Moses, Lao Tzu, Buddha, Confucius, Jesus Christ, The Apostle Paul, Saint Augustine, Muhammad, Thomas Aquinas, Martin Luther, John Calvin and many others.

Military leaders: Dwight D. Eisenhower, Julius Caesar, Napoleon Bonaparte, Alexander the Great, Douglas MacArthur, Colin Powell, George S. Patton, and many others.

Leaders of Exploration: Christopher Columbus, Lewis & Clark, Marco Polo, Vasco da Gama, Ferdinand Magellan, James Cook, Roald Amundsen and many others.

Think about the greatest leaders in the history of humanity, as well as some great leaders in your own business and community. What do they all have in common with each other in addition to being outstanding leaders?

All of these leaders have common characteristics that contribute to their success:

- they convey a feeling of certainty about themselves and their vision
- they are masters of influence and communication
- they are highly capable, dedicated and hard-working
- they make decisions and direct the effort
- they care deeply about the people they lead
- their passion and convictions are inspiring to others
- they make sure the people they lead feel connected and rewarded
- they hold themselves & others accountable in a fair and consistent manner

The finest leaders are truly in command of their thoughts, emotions and behaviors. Moreover, they have the ability to focus themselves and others to believe in a vision, talk about what must be done to achieve it, and feel personal motivation and responsibility to take the steps necessary to make that vision a reality.

Learn to think, feel and act as if you were a born leader. Learn to take command of your own thoughts, feelings and behaviors so that you are deciding, not reacting. Develop exceptional skill and ability to influence with integrity. Master concrete tools and techniques to help you become an unstoppable leader who can connect with and inspire your team to higher levels of motivation, performance, loyalty, satisfaction and productivity.

A POWERFUL STORY FOR YOU TO CONSIDER

On a magnificent late spring afternoon, twenty years ago, two young men graduated from the same college. They were similar in many ways, these two young men. Both had been good students, both were personable and friendly, and both—as most young college graduates are—were filled with dreams and ambitions for their future.

Recently, these men returned to their college for their 20th reunion.

Still, they were very much alike. Both happily married, both had two children, and both, it turns out, had gone on to work for the same West Coast manufacturing company. After all those years, they were both working at the same company.

But there was a difference. One of them was a manager of a small department of that company, and the other was its CEO.

What Made the Difference?

Have you ever wondered, as I have, what truly makes the difference in people's lives? Is it genetics, inborn intelligence, luck, talent, or dedication? What makes the difference? It isn't that one person wants to succeed and the other one doesn't. Both get up everyday and go to work. Both want to do well. So what is it that makes the difference?

The difference lies in two things—two simple things—what a person knows and how he or she makes active use of that knowledge.

And that is why we are in contact. Because the entire purpose of Professional Teambuilding is to give you and your team powerful knowledge and, perhaps even more important, the motivation and ability to put your knowledge into action.

An Organization Like No Other

Every Professional Teambuilding program is carefully designed and orchestrated to provide you the most vital tools and skills to eliminate inefficiency, improve communication and increase productivity. Not just information, but also a system that will activate an unstoppable fire within your team to take intelligent action each and every day towards clear and compelling goals.

Knowledge Is Power, Isn't It?

Knowledge is only power if two conditions are met, one—the knowledge pertains to the challenge at hand—and, two—the knowledge is actively and effectively put to use.

Again, the knowledge must be 1) pertinent, and 2) must be ACTIVELY and EFFECTIVELY USED. It is not enough just to know things, even pertinent things. There are countless stories of knowledgeable people who never finish, or worse yet, never start the task at hand. For knowledge to be power we must be motivated to use it and take action.

Be certain about one thing--Professional Teambuilding will provide your team powerful, pertinent knowledge AND unleash an unstoppable drive to use it.

An Event to Remember

Experience the results for yourself by choosing one of our signature events for your next company meeting.

Call us at 1-800-446-4742, talk with us about what you want to achieve, and reserve an event for your company that will produce incomparable results.

About those two college classmates I mentioned at the beginning of this letter: they graduated from college together and got started in the business world together. So what made their lives in business so different?

Knowledge. Useful, pertinent knowledge. And its active and effective use.

An Investment In Success.

I cannot promise that success will instantly be yours when you confirm one of our events, but I can assure you that, after completing your Professional Teambuilding event, you will see your team taking more positive action each day, you will hear them communicating more effectively, you will feel the motivation in your offices, and you will know with absolute certainty that you have made a wise decision because you will see bottom line results—GUARANTEED.

Please call me 1-310-308-4056 to discuss the details. We look forward to working with you and your team to provide a powerful once-in-a-lifetime motivational teambuilding & leadership experience you will always remember.
